

The NEUMÜLLER Group supports their partners in various industrial sectors with more than 350 employees and more than 25 years professional recruiting experience.

For interesting job opportunities in automotive-electronics industry, energy sector, medical engineering and the aerospace technology we are looking now for a

Hardware developer (f/m)

Your responsibilities:

- Analysis of customer enquiries
- Design of microcontroller circuits
- Component selection and prototyping with commissioning and validation
- Compilation of test specifications
- Conceptual Design and assembly of test equipment
- Execution of tests

Your skills:

- Graduation in electro-technology, communications technology, Microelectronics or similar fields of study.
- Knowledge within the range of the circuit design, digital/analog technology, experience in circuit simulation is welcome
- Team Player with excellent communication skills
- Fluent in English, German language desirable

The NEUMÜLLER Group supports their partners in various industrial sectors with more than 350 employees and more than 25 years professional recruiting experience.

For interesting job opportunities in automotive-electronics industry, energy sector, medical engineering and the aerospace technology we are looking now for an

Embedded Software Engineer (f/m)

Your responsibilities:

- Development of embedded software including software documentation and software tests
- Development of specifications
- Integration of the SW models into control units

Your skills:

- Graduation in Computer Science/Electrical Engineering or similar fields of study required
- Software development experience using C/C++ programming language
- First experience in bus systems like CAN, LIN or MOST and micro controllers
- Matlab- Simulink knowledge is a plus
- German language desirable

Ausgezeichnetes Personal ist keine Glückssache.

The NEUMÜLLER Group supports their partners in various industrial sectors with more than 350 employees and more than 25 years professional recruiting experience.

For interesting job opportunities in automotive-electronics industry, energy sector, medical engineering and the aerospace technology we are looking now for an

Matlab- / Simulink-developer (f/m)

Your responsibilities:

- Model and algorithm development
- Generation of autocode and implementation
- Verification of software modules
- Development of specifications
- Generate Documentation

Your skills:

- Graduation in electro-technology, communications technology, computer science or similar fields of study
- Good knowledge in C, Matlab- / Simulink- or Targetlink
- German language desirable